

Volunteer Copywriter

Virunga National Park is a UNESCO World Heritage Site in the eastern Democratic Republic of Congo, on the border of Uganda and Rwanda. Virunga is Africa's oldest national park, the continent's most biologically diverse protected area, and home to about a quarter of the world's critically endangered mountain gorillas.

Virunga National Park is seeking Volunteer Copywriters interested in sharing their talents. As a Volunteer Copywriter, you'll have the opportunity to help Virunga find the right voice to tell their story, reach our stakeholders and inspire support for our programs. If you are a creative wordsmith who can cut to the core of ideas and express the essence of an organization and its message, you can help impact critical conservation and environmental efforts in the Eastern DRC.

A successful Volunteer Copywriter:

- Has 1+ years professional experience in copywriting or content creation
- Is able to translate ideas and concepts into words
- Can show a varied portfolio of copy samples
- Incorporates team and client perspectives to develop unique and engaging content

If interested, please contact sarah@virunga.org with your resume and portfolio.